Wildflower Organics offers a range of cuffs, earrings, and necklaces fashioned from scrap leather salvaged from a shoe factory in Indonesia.

Carved into polished organic shapes and available in either black or mocha hues, the pieces are simple yet striking, and are meant to develop a patina of character with wear. Prices start at $33 for a pair of earrings with sterling-silver hooks. Wildflower Organics

I'm so tired of expensive green materials.....everything cost money but it is ludicrous to drop money like it's nothing for "green". This is what loses people....this is why so many people are lost to the Green message, especially in the south.
